Applicant's election with traverse of the election of species in the reply filed on December 1, 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the second embodiment is just a minor variation of the first embodiment. This is not found persuasive because although the differences may be minor, there is still patentable distinction between the two species, and the search required for certain features of one embodiment is different than that of the second embodiment.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 19-21 and 25 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Johnson.

Claims 1,4,5 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hunt.

Figures 1,2 show backrest C movable between upright and compact (horizontal) positions. The seat has slots F in side brackets into which the connector D' of the backrest is slidably mounted.

Claims 1-4,10-13,16-18,22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by George.

Figures 1-3 show structure as claimed, including a backrest slidably mounted to seat brackets and pivotable between upright and compact positions. The backrest is formed of an inverted U-shaped frame, which straddles the seat frame.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 24 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hines.

Figures 1-4 show structure as claimed, wherein the backrest is moved forwardly and downwardly from an upright to a compact position, wherein the backrest is in the same plane as the seat.

The method by which the backrest is moved to both an upright and compact position would encompass the steps set forth in the claim.

Claims 6-9,14,15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Young, Miller, Green, and Rudolph show various features of the invention.
